Part I Reading Comprehension (阅读理解, 40 分, 20×2)

Passage One

Some people argue that the pressure on international sportsmen and sportswomen kills the essence of sport—the pursuit of personal excellence. Children kick a football around for fun. When they get older and play for local school teams, they will become competitive but they still enjoy playing. The individual representing his country cannot afford to think about enjoying himself, and he has to think only about winning. He is responsible for the entire nation's hopes, dreams and reputation.

A good example is the FIFA World Cup. Football is the third most important sport in the world. Winning the World Cup is perhaps the summit of international sporting success. Mention Argentina to someone and the chances are that he'll think of football. In a sense, winning the World Cup put Argentina on the map.

Some sports fans and supporters get quite unreasonable about the World Cup. People in England felt that their country was somehow important after they won in 1966. In 1978, thousands of the Scots sold their cars, and even their houses, and spent all their money traveling to Argentina, where the finals were played.

So, am I arguing that international competition kills the idea of sport? Certainly not! Do the Argentinean really believe that because eleven of their men proved the most skillful at football, their nation is in every way better than all others? Not really. But it's nice to know that you won and that in one way at least your country is the best.

Directions: There are 4 passages in this part. Each passage is followed by some questions or incomplete sentences. For each of them there are 4 choices marked A, B, C and D. You should decide on the best choice and mark the corresponding letter on the Answer Sheet.

Passage Two

For years and years people have been saying that the railways are dead. "We can do without railways," people say, as if motorcars and planes made the railways unnecessary. We all keep hearing that trains are slow, that they lose money, and that they're dying. But this is far from the truth. In these days when oil is expensive, the railways have become highly competitive with motorcars and planes. If you want to carry people or goods from place to place, they're cheaper than planes.

Railways have much in common with planes. A plane goes in a straight line and so does a railway. What is more, it takes you from the heart of a city into the heart of another. But a railway doesn't leave you as a plane does, miles and miles away from the city center. It doesn't hold you up as a motorcar does, in endless traffic jams. And a single train can carry goods which no plane or motorcar could ever do.

Far from being dead, the railways are very much alive. Modern railway lines give you a smooth, untroubled journey. Where else can you eat well, sleep in comfort, feel safe and enjoy the scene while you are traveling at speed at the same time? And we are only at the beginning. We have entered the age of superfast trains, traveling at 150 miles an hour and more. Soon we will be wondering why we spend so much on motorways we can't use because we don't have enough money to buy oil, and planes we can't fly for the same reason.

Passage Three

The way people hold to the belief that a fun-filled, pain-free life equals happiness actually reduces their chances of ever attaining real happiness. If fun and pleasure are equal to happiness, then pain must be equal to unhappiness. But in fact, the opposite is true: more often than not things that lead to happiness involve some pain.

As a result, many people avoid the very attempts that are the source of true happiness. They fear the pain inevitably brought by such things as marriage, raising children, professional achievement, religious commitment, self-improvement.

Ask a bachelor why he resists marriage even though he finds dating to be less and less satisfying. If he is honest, he will tell you that he is afraid of making a commitment. For commitment is in fact quite painful. The single life is filled with fun, adventure, excitement. Marriage has such moments, but they are not its most distinguishing features.

Couples with infant children are lucky to get a whole night's sleep or a three-day vacation. I don't know any parent who would choose the word fun to describe raising children. But couples who decide not to have children never know the joys of watching a child grow up or of playing with a grandchild.

Understanding and accepting that true happiness has nothing to do with fun is one of the most liberating realizations. It liberates time: now we can devote more hours to activities that can genuinely increase our happiness. It liberates money: buying that new car or those fancy clothes that will do nothing to increase our happiness now seems pointless. And it liberates us from envy: we now understand that all those who are always having so much fun actually may not be happy at all.

Passage Four

Everyone knows that laziness is a sin. We have probably all had lectures pointing out that laziness is immoral, wasteful, and that lazy people will never amount to anything in life. But laziness can be more harmful than that, and it is often caused by more complex reasons than simple wishes to avoid work. Some people who appear to be lazy are suffering from much more serious problems. They may be so distrustful of their fellow workers that they are unable to join in any group task for fear of ridicule or for fear of having their ideas stolen. These people who seem lazy may be paralyzed (丧失活动能力的) by a fear of failure that prevents fruitful work. Or other sorts of fantasies may prevent work; some people are so busy planning, sometimes planning great deals or fantastic achievements, that they are unable to deal with whatever "lesser" work is on hand. Still other people are not avoiding work; strictly speaking, they are merely procrastinating (拖延)—rescheduling their day.

Laziness can actually be helpful. Like procrastinators, some people may look lazy when they are really thinking, planning, contemplating (深思) and researching. We all should remember that some great scientific discoveries occurred by chance or while some were "goofing off" (磨洋工). Newton wasn't working in the orchard when the apple hit him and he discovered the law of universal gravitation. Sometimes, being "lazy"—that is, taking time off for a rest—is good for overworked students or executives. Taking a rest can be particularly helpful to the athlete who is trying too hard or the doctor who's simply working himself overtime too many evenings at the clinic. So be careful when you are tempted to call someone lazy. That person may be thinking, resting, or planning his or her next book.

Part III True or False (阅读判断, 10 分, 5×2)

Directions: For this part, you are going to read a passage with 5 statements attached to it. You are required to decide whether the statements are True or False. Mark A for TRUE if the statement agrees with the information given in the passage; mark B for FALSE if the statement contradicts the information given in the passage. You should make your judgment and mark the corresponding letter on the Answer Sheet.

Sometimes you'll hear people say that you can't love others until you love yourself. Sometimes you'll hear people say that you can't expect someone else to love you until you love yourself. Either way, you've got to love yourself first and this can be tricky. Sure we all know that we're the apple of our parents' eyes, and that our grandmas think we are great talents and our uncle Roberts think that we will go to the Olympics, but sometimes it's a lot harder to think such nice thoughts about ourselves. If you find that believing in yourself is a challenge, it is time you built a positive self-image and learned to love yourself.

The self-image is your own mind's picture of yourself. This image includes the way you look, the way you act, the way you talk and the way you think. Interestingly, our self-images are often quite different from the images others hold about us. Unfortunately, most of these self-images are more negative than what they should be, and thus changing the way you think about yourself is the key to changing your self-image and your whole world.

The best way to defeat a passive self-image is to step back and decide to stress your successes. That is, make a list if you need to, and write down all of the great things you do every day. Don't allow doubts to occur in it.

It might well be that you are experiencing a negative self-image because you can't move past one flaw or weakness that you see about yourself. Well, roll up your sleeves and make a change of it as your primary task. If you think you are silly because you aren't good at math, find a tutor. If you think you are weak because you can't run a mile, get to the track and practice. If you think you are dull because you don't follow the latest trends, buy a few new clothes.

The best way to get rid of a negative self-image is to realize that your image is far from objective and to actively convince yourself of your positive qualities. Changing the way you think and working on those you need to improve will go a long way towards promoting a positive self-image. When you can pat yourself on the back, you'll know you're well on your way.

解析 all by oneself 为固定搭配“独自、独立”, 此处应用反身代词 myself。

62. If I had wings, (A) I (B) will fly back to my hometown as soon as possible.

解析 B 改为 would

解析 与现在事实相反的虚拟语气 (had), 主句应用 would + 动词原形, will 改 would。

解析 A 改为 working

解析 appreciate doing sth. 为固定搭配, 后接动名词, 不接不定式。

△ 答案存疑 库课文字版标“A 改为 working”, 道客巴巴扫描版标“B 改为 working”。实际错误为 appreciate to work → appreciate working (appreciate 后接动名词), 即把不定式 to work 改为动名词 working; 无论标 A 或 B, 修正结果一致。此处按“to work→working”记录。

Part VI Writing (短文写作, 20 分)

Directions: For this part, you are supposed to write a composition on the topic Different Attitudes towards Shopping. You should write at least 120 words, and base your composition on the outline given in Chinese below.

1. 有人认为购物使人感到有趣; 2. 有人认为购物只是一项任务; 3. 你对购物的看法。

71. 作文题: Different Attitudes towards Shopping (至少 120 词)。

参考范文 (非官方, 仅供参考) (以下范文由编者依题目提纲撰写, 仅供参考, 非官方标准答案, 亦非任何机构公布的范文。) Different Attitudes towards Shopping Nowadays, shopping has become a heated topic in our daily life. However, people hold quite different attitudes towards it. Some people believe that shopping is very interesting. They enjoy wandering around stores or malls, comparing prices and trying on new clothes. For them, shopping is a way to relax and a source of pleasure, and hunting for a real bargain even brings them a strong sense of satisfaction. However, others regard shopping as merely a tiring task. They think it always takes up too much time and energy, and they just buy what they need as quickly as possible before hurrying home. In my opinion, we should shop in a rational way. Shopping itself is neither good nor bad; what matters is our attitude. If we shop wisely, it can enrich our life and even reshape our way of life. In short, proper shopping really can enhance our sense of happiness.

考点/方法 提纲式议论文 (观点对比类), 120 词以上, 注意 Some...However...In my opinion 分层。
